Making a Test Case.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Stockholders of the Pacific bank brought two suits against the Pacific bank in order to test the question whether the new stock and old and new assessments on the stock do not constitute indebtedness of the bank.

Took no Chances of a Failure.

PUTNAM, Ohio, Feb. 2.—Fletcher Reed, a young man in a fit of religious excitement, set a straw stack on fire and jumped in the flames, after he had cut his throat. His remains were charred bones when found.

Wrecked City Bank.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 2.—The officers charged with wrecking the City bank plead not guilty on twenty-six indictments. The bondsmen have surrendered Bookkeeper Beech.

Severe Snow Storm.

RAWLINS, Wyo., Feb. 2.—The snow storm in Wyoming exceeds in severity anything in the history of the territory. Great loss of cattle can only be prevented by the ranges being cleared of snow by wind.

Good, Bijou.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Bijou Heron and Henry John Miller, formerly of the Union Square theater, were married to-night.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.

Hoar presented a petition from President Elliott and other professors of Harvard, asking that none but professional astronomers of experience at all be hereafter eligible for the position of superintendent of the United States naval observatory.

After an unsuccessful attempt by McMillan to have considered the resolution respecting the inadequacy of the water supply in the district of Columbia, the tariff bill was taken up.

The paragraph embracing potato, corn and rice starch was taken up.

Hale moved to make the duty on potato and corn starch two cents per pound.

Hale said his amendment was about equivalent to the the existing duty.

After debate it was agreed to; ayes 28, nays 24.

The rate on rice and other starches was left at 2½ cents per pound, as in the bill.

The senate then passed to consideration of cotton and cotton goods schedules.

Aldrich explained the new classification of cotton, thread, yarn, etc.

Beck said he thought it would be no reduction on this class of goods, but rather an increase of about $500,000. He believes the change from four to seven classes was made to hide a proposed increase of duties, and it would give greatly increased opportunities.

Slater delivered a prepared argument against high protective duties, and in favor of a revenue tariff.

Anthony interrupted the debate to offer a joint resolution directing the public printer to remove stored property.

McPherson introduced a bill to improve the efficiency of the naval academy.

The senate then resumed consideration of the common schedule.

Bayard believed the schedule would make a substantial advance in the duties on common goods, but he confessed he found great difficulty in understanding its provisions, and he thought when a man of average age and intelligence and accustomed to study and to frame laws, found difficulty in understanding a proposed law, that it was pretty good evidence the law was not fit for a republic. The reason this schedule was so puzzling was that its preparation had been entrusted to ingenious technical experts in cotton manufacture.

Chilcott presented the credentials of Tabor, elected from Colorado, and he was sworn in and took a seat.

Harris moved to make the duty on cotton, thread, yarn, warps, yarn of every form and value 30 per cent. ad valorem.

Coke spoke at length in favor of the tariff for revenue and against a high protective tariff. Under the revenue tariff we would soon drive England, France and Germany commercially from the American continent.

Hoar said the New England manufacturers of woolen goods paid an annual tribute of $4,000,000 taxes alone, yet the people of that state desired no protection.

Coke said he would vote for free wool if New England would agree to reduce the duty on manufactured woolen goods to 25 per cent.

At 6:35 a vote was taken on Harris' amendment, which resulted yeas 15, noes 11, no quorum voting.

House.

McCook, of New York, presented a memorial from the chamber of commerce of New York, urging congress to pass the bill limiting the coinage of silver dollars to the requirements of the people.

Petitions were presented protesting against the transfer of the revenue marine life saving department and the coast survey to the navy department.

After the appointment of conferees on the postoffice appropriation bill, the house went into committee of the whole on the tariff, the pending amendment being that offered by Carter, of Pennsylvania, to increase the duty on tanning barks from 10 to 20 per cent. ad valorem.

After debate, the amendment was agreed to; 98 to 74. The clause now reads: Extract of hemlock and other bark now used for dyeing and tanning, not otherwise provided for in this act, 20 per cent. ad valorem.

A spirited debate followed upon the question of a quorum on the amendment to the varnish clause, during which, Mills, of Texas, charged Aldrich, of Illinois, with uttering a falsehood, but subsequently retracted the remarks. The clause in section 5 to varnish, was agreed upon as follows: Shellac varnish, 25 cents per gallon and in addition thereto an amount equal to the internal revenue tax on the alcohol contained therein; varnishes, other than shellac, 30 per cent. ad valorem, and in addition thereto, an amount equal to the internal revenue on alcohol contained therein.

The chemical schedule having been concluded, Morrison offered an additional clause, providing that after July, 1884, there shall be levied, collected and paid on articles, goods, wares and merchandise in this schedule, only 90 per cent. duties imposed on said articles, severally. Such reduction would help the manufacturing interests, and on the theory of protecting, it could not possibly affect the question of wages; the amendment was lost.

Townsend offered a substitute for the whole schedule, providing that for the two years following January 1, 1884, there be a reduction of 20 per cent. from the rates in the chemical schedule, and for the succeeding two years a further reduction of 10 per cent; lost.

Schedule B, earthenware and glassware, was then considered and many amendments offered and rejected. Debate continued to a great length. During the discussion, Hammond remarked that every time an industry was reached, somebody rose and said: "This is my infant and has to be taken care of." Thus, in the language of the president, in his veto to the river and harbor bill, "as the bill becomes more objectionable it secures more support."

Tucker ridiculed the idea that an industry which only required 20 per cent protection in its infancy should in its manhood need 65 per cent. protection.

Carlisle moved to strike out ornamental earthen, stone and crockery ware from the list of articles to pay 67 per cent ad valorem.

Brewer said the kind of painted ware which the gentleman from Kentucky objected to being classified with finer goods, were placed on the catalogue on account of the difficulty in distinguishing between the low and high grades. He could find the gentleman from Kentucky a piece of earthen ware which he could not tell from the best china ever produced. In the course of his remarks he showed several specimens of crockery and china, and the members gathered around him and listened attentively to his explanations of the various grades of the work.

Kelley called the attention of the commissioners to a large vase he had on his desk, and explained it was an article on which was 50 cents worth of American clay, and worth more than $4 in American labor. It had been made in Greenpoint, N. Y., but a gentleman might easily mistake it for imported Chinaware.

Gunther moved to change the duty on green and colored glass and bottles, vials, demijohns, carboys, etc., from 1½c per pound to 45c ad valorem.

Deuster hoped the amendment offered by his colleague would be adopted, he claiming the provision in the bill was an increase of nearly 200 per cent over the present rate. The expense to the brewer in bottling 6000 barrels of beer would be increased by the bill to the amount of $40,000.

After a long debate the motion was agreed to—91 to 76. So the rate remains 35 per cent. ad valorem.

The committee rose.

Cannon, from the committee on appropriations, reported the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill; referred to the committee of the whole. He gave notice that under direction of his committee, he would move on Monday to pass the bill under suspension of the rules.

Blackburn—Will the gentleman be candid enough to state the authority given him to move a suspension of the rules without the unanimous action of the committee?

Cameron—I voice the action of the committee. The committee acts by the majority, of course. I am perfectly willing to state I was so directed by a strict party vote.

Townsend—Do you want to vote to pay $20,000,000, without an opportunity to debate?

Hiscock—This proposition is exact. It is an appropriation bill carrying the pay-roll for executive departments, and we are willing to take the responsibility of passing it without debate.

Robinson, of Mass.—"You passed the sundry civil bill without debate in the 46th congress."

The senate resolution was passed, authorizing the public printer to remove certain materials from the government printing house.

The house then adjourned, though attempts were made by advocates of the whisky bonded bill to prolong the session, for the purpose of securing a night session on Monday next, for consideration of that bill.

Committee Work.

The house foreign affairs committee authorizes Kasson to move that the senate Nicaragua bill, as amended, be substituted for the house bill whenever the latter is taken up in the house.

Big Damages.

The verdict of $7[illegible] awarded Miss Allen Livingstone against Pulitzer, the rich New York sugar refiner, is being reported as the biggest sum ever given a plaintiff in a breach of promise suit. A correspondent of the New York Sun, however, points out that this is not true. Opposition to the Senate Amendments to the Tariff Bill.

Condemning the Action of the Cadets at Annapolis Academy.

Investigating the Dalles-Baker City Star Route Frauds.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Mr. Randall is reported as having said that when the senate tariff bill comes to the house he will move its passage under a suspension of the rules, as a substitute for the ways and means committee bill. The ex-speaker, in conversation with your correspondent to-day, said that he had not proposed to make any such motion, and that the statement was without foundation. There are undoubtedly many members of the house who would vote to pass the senate bill under a suspension of rules, but the united action of the republican majority was in support of the ways and means bill during the present week. This is regarded as significant of a determination not to accept rates as low as those provided by the senate. It is probable, however, that when the senate bill comes to the house a motion will be made to suspend the rules and take it from the speaker's table for consideration. Such a motion might be adopted, particularly if the session was far advanced and unusual haste was necessary to pass the bill. What is known as the senate bill is, in fact, a senate amendment to the original house bill of last session. Unless this bill could be reached by a motion to suspend the rules, it would take its place in the regular order below 160 bills now having precedence on the speaker's table. To lay aside, in the usual manner, these preceding bills, would require much time. The republican members of the ways and means committee will undoubtedly oppose concurrence in the senate amendment, which largely reduces the rates. The democrats, who favor lower rates than the ways and means committee recommended, would probably vote to concur. Until votes have been taken upon some of the principal schedules in the house, it is impossible to predict what the chances are for concurrence in the senate changes.

The Dalles-Baker City Route Frauds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The first witness called in the star route case yesterday was Emil Shutz, who testified that Moore bought stock of him and requested him to circulate petitions. His instructions were to get one or two original petitions; then they would doctor them up so as to get as many as they wanted.

Edwin Hall, postmaster at Canyon City, testified with regard to the Dalles-Baker City route, and says that fraudulent signatures were affixed to the petitions. Among those reported as fraudulent were his own and other persons of his acquaintance. Wilson protested against the testimony because defendants had not been notified of the attempt to be made in that connection. Bliss said that the government intended to bring home to Brady the knowledge of the fraudulent character of the petitions. The testimony was admitted.

Wilson declared that the defense would call upon them to bring persons here from Oregon to swear to their signatures; it would be done although it might take all summer. Attempts were made by the defense to introduce specimens of a witness' handwriting to impeach his testimony.

A long argument ensued, resulting in the rejection of the paper. Wilson, having ventured to express to Merrick his disapproval of the judge's ruling, was severely reprimanded by the court for the disrespectful remarks. Wilson explained the remarks were made to Merrick, but the court replied that the remark had been made to the court and it could not be tolerated that counsel on one side or the other should be allowed to rise up and declare that "such was not the law anywhere." Adjourned.

In the star route trial Edwin Hall, Charles Pierce and Wm. Cowne, all of Oregon, gave testimony relative to the method of carrying mail on The Dalles-Canyon City route.

Carrier Fisk testified that he signed the names of other persons to the petitions on the Dalles-Baker City route by their authority.

The prosecution then took up the Colorado route, from Ouray to Los Pinos. H. E. Dunbar, postmaster at Ouray, described the route and the manner in which the mail service had been performed. This was the route sublet to Sanderson. Defense moved to reject the testimony, because it did not concern the debts. Overruled. Ingalls insisted that the testimony showed that Sanderson, who carried the mail, practically assumed charge of the route in 1878. Bliss replied that if they wished to show Sanderson was with them in the conspiracy, they had no objection.

"Good!" exclaimed Ingersoll.

The Naval Academy Troubles.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Secretary Chandler expresses his opinion of the recent troubles at Annapolis as follows: The disturbances and insubordination among the cadets at Annapolis will doubtless subside if the superintendent be allowed to work out the result without interference, but if the cadets are encouraged to persist by their parents and friends, the dismissal of 40 or 50 may result. The great difficulty in the management of the academy is the boys and their relatives fail to realize that the school is not an ordinary seminary of learning where students pay for the education which they receive, but an institution of military discipline, where the boys have their expenses paid by the United States in order that they may be thoroughly educated and trained in a life of self-denial and self-control, and fitted for the restraints and duties of the military profession. If boys expect the same privileges, liberties and easy life which they may find in the ordinary academy, they should resign and let their places be filled by young gentlemen who are willing, unreservedly, to commit themselves to the privation and labors of the academy, in order that, through its discipline as well as instructions, they may become qualified to command a vessel of the United States. So far as the department now understands the difficulties at the academy it would sustain the superintendent, even to the extent of dismissing a large part of one of the classes.

President Arthur a Flirt.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Washington is just now giving a good deal of attention to the president and Miss Beckwith. Last summer it was reported he was engaged to Mrs. Wadsworth. He certainly paid her a great deal of attention and robbed the hot house of the executive mansion of its choicest buds and blossoms in order to furnish bouquets to that charming widow. Mrs. Wadsworth is now in Europe and rumors are busy with the name of Miss Beckwith. She is now at the Arlington house with her mother. She is a New York lady, about 28 years of age, and is not only beautiful but has many graces of figure and mind. The president has given several very nice little dinners at the White house in her honor, and her table at the Arlington is always decorated with the choicest flowers of the White house conservatory. To-day the president organized a little party, for her benefit, to make a visit to Mount Vernon. The government boat Dispatch was used to convey them to the tomb of the father of his country. An eminent society lady a day or so ago remarked that the president was a great flirt, but she probably only meant that he has the good taste to like the society of pretty and accomplished women.

Petitions Made to Order.

Fifty-seven petitions, asking for the passage of a bill to extend national aid to the common schools were presented in the senate this morning by Messrs. Blair and Mahone. The uniformity in signatures to a great majority of these memorials created some curiosity as to their genuineness as representative petitions. In many instances all the signatures on one petition to the number of 50 or 100 were found to have been written by the same person with neither cross marks nor [illegible] to explain this rather singular fact. In one instance, in a petition purporting to come from Aiken, South Carolina, the names of ministers of the gospel were [illegible] the petitions by the same person, and among the Virginia petitions, presented by Mahone, the same handwriting, in blue graphite, was found. In memorials purporting to come from Lynchburg and Salem, and the counties of Nansemond, Pittsylvania and Gloucester, the petitions were not dated, and with but one exception from the south.

The Standard Dollar Flood.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Times severely condemns the action of the house committee on coinage yesterday, involving the resolution to suspend the coinage of silver. This makes it certain that no action will be taken at the present session to put a stop to the wasteful and mischievous accumulation of depreciated silver dollars in the hands of the government. Their action is all the more surprising because it has been shown in the most explicit manner by the secretary of the treasury's letter, that there is no room for any more silver dollars to be stored in the treasury vaults. The most serious difficulty is found at San Francisco, where there are some six hundred and eight tons of silver, two-thirds of which are "standard" dollars. The only relief possible is the removal of a part of this silver east, at a cost of [illegible] for every [illegible] transported, and for this transportation there is no appropriation.

Postal Rates and Personal Prejudice.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The senate postoffice committee has decided to postpone till next session further consideration of bill 1170, to regulate the rates of postage on second class mail matter. [illegible] The bill proposed to fix the rate of postage on second class publications, deposited in letter carrier offices, at two cents per pound. The postoffice committee [illegible]

Condemned Navy Vessels.

The following named vessels were stricken from the navy register, and under provisions of the naval appropriation act [illegible] Wyoming and Rodgers. The most of the vessels mentioned will be broken up [illegible] will be sold at auction.

The Mexican Treaty Delayed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Mexican reciprocity treaty has not been sent to the senate. It was reported last week that the treaty had been signed and Gen. Grant had departed for New York. It was learned at the state department to-day that negotiations are still in progress. It is rumored that the treaty may not be sent to the senate this session, but that if there is a called session after the 4th of March it will then be forwarded with the president's recommendation for immediate action.

Pressing Business.

The following circular was sent to each republican member of the house: "A quorum of republican members is demanded for Monday the 5th inst. It has been fully demonstrated that if the important business of this session is to receive final action the 147 republicans must be in their seats from 11 A. M. until adjournment."

Jute and Quicksilver Duty.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—When jute is reached in the tariff bill, Representative Page will move to reduce the rate from that fixed by the committee of ways and means $15 per ton, to $5 per ton, and also to reduce the rates on jute butts from $6 per ton to $2 per ton. On quicksilver, he will move to place a rate of 15 cents per pound.

Power to Veto the Appropriation Bill by Sections.

A joint resolution was introduced in the senate providing for an amendment to the constitution, authorizing the president to veto any one or more of the items in the appropriation bill, the veto, however, not to affect other portions of the bill.

Contested Election Expenses.

Calkins to-day introduced in the house a bill, providing for the payment of expenses incurred by contestants and contestees in the contested election cases of the 47th congress. The amount aggregates $61,000.

Bank Reserve Bill.

Senator Pendleton introduced a bill, by request, to-day, which is particularly intended to compel the closing of national banks and winding up of their affairs, in cases where their reserve is permitted to fall and remain below the amount required by law.

CRIMINAL.

The Younger Brothers in Texas.

DALLAS, Feb. 2.—A serious mob affair is reported from Sunset, Montague county. A son of the United States Marshal McKee, was sent as a deputy to Sunset, to serve attachment papers on the Younger Brothers, merchants at Sunset. The Youngers collected a large crowd of their friends, who served a notice on Deputy McKee to leave town. They took his papers and destroyed them and he was unable to perform his duties. McKee started for Fort Worth and telegraphed the state of affairs to his father at Dallas. The latter left for Sunset with a posse to enforce the serving of the writs and to arrest the members of the mob. Serious trouble is apprehended, as there is a hard lot of citizens around Sunset. It is alleged that upwards of a score of men have been lynched in that vicinity in the past three years. Much apprehension is felt by the authorities here.

A Kansas Cobb Lynched.

WINFIELD, Ks., Feb. 2.—Young Cobb, who shot and mortally wounded Sheriff Shenneman some days ago, and who a few days before, shot and killed a constable in Jefferson county, was taken out of jail here this morning by a party of masked men and hanged to a railroad bridge. It is stated that he had been led off to the committal of the lawless acts by reading the exploits of Jesse James and other desperadoes.

Barbarians.

ATLANTA GA., Feb 2.—A horrible story comes to the Constitution, from Marietta, of a young woman giving birth to an illegitimate child, then killing the babe, and remaining in bed with the decaying body for eight days. A little brother, who cooked for the sister, and her father, were the only occupants of the house.

A Double Crime.

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 2.—Libby Baille, a student at the state normal school at Edinboro, for a year or two past, was arrested this morning at her brother-in-law's in Cleveland, for the murder of her illegitimate babe. Her sister Sarah was arrested as accessory.

Robbing a Church.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The sexton of the Episcopal church on the corner of Prince and Thompson streets found three robbers in the act of leaping from the windows, and he soon learned that they had cut eight pictures from the frames and drank the communion wine.

WASHINGTON WAIFS.

Senator-elect Tabor of Colorado, has arrived.

The president gave a state dinner to the justices of the U. S. supreme court this evening.

The session of the cabinet was devoted to considering the Mexican treaty. All members were present.

The house reported a bill to the senate establishing three hundred and fifty-five new post roads, principally in the west and south.

Secretary Teller has reaffirmed his previous decision, to the effect that a contestant to timber culture entry must file his application at the date of the contest to obtain status as contestant.

POLITICAL POT POURRI.

Senator Sabin's Election.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 2.—The 29th ballot, by which D. M. Sabin was elected, stood, Sabin 81, Windom 3[illegible], Cole 16, Hubbard 9, Wakefield 1. Thirty democrats voted for Sabin. The rest were divided between the other republican candidates. Sabin's republican votes were drawn from all the other candidates. The changes of the democrats to Sabin began on the 27th ballot, when he gained rapidly to the close. Sabin is a prominent and wealthy manufacturer and state prison contractor, of Stillwater. He has never held office except in the legislature. He is 39 years old and a native of Connecticut.

Two Fruitless Ballots in Michigan.

DETROIT, Feb. 2.—Two ballots were taken for U. S. senator to-day, but without result. First—Ferry 49, Stout 46, scattering 35.

Second—Ferry 49, Stout 46. There is some disposition among the fusionists to desert Stout, but thus far they have been held to him.

CANADA.

And he Kept the Money.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 2.—Wm. Guy, a clerk in the Halifax bank, was sent to the postoffice with a parcel containing $6000. He abstracted the money and substituted waste paper. When arrested he confessed his guilt.

Solving the Indian Problem.

E. V. Smalley in the Century for February.

General Miles, who has probably had more experience in fighting Indians than any other officer of the army, believes that any wild tribe can be civilized up to the point of becoming self-supporting, in four or five years if the right method is pursued. His success with the Cheyennes, who surrendered to him at Fort Keogh a few years ago, gives him the right to hold this opinion. The Cheyennes were savages, who had never come into any relation with the whites, other than that of hostility, until General Miles conquered them. When they surrendered they showed a decided repugnance to going upon a reservation. They thought they could shift for themselves if they were not put in charge of an agent. General Miles sold all their ponies, except one or two to a lodge, and with the money bought cattle for them. He detailed a soldier who understood farming to teach them to raise crops. They went to work on the Fort Keogh military reservation. For about a year it was necessary to issue rations to them, but the allowance was steadily diminished, and finally stopped altogether. The Indians raised wheat, corn and potatoes, made gardens, and soon had a surplus of vegetables, grain and melons to sell. In the winter they hunted buffalo, and with the proceeds of the sale of the skins bought wagons and plows. They soon learned the value of money and became expert in barter. When I visited Fort Keogh last May nearly all of them had left the military reservation and gone up the Little Rosebud river, to open farms and build log houses. They asked nothing from the government except to be let alone. Their only apprehension was that they would be forced to a return to the agency system. To a suggestion that the government would provide a school for the children, the chiefs replied that they would establish a school of their own if they had good crops this year and that they would rather pay the expense themselves and not be dependent upon the government. Yet these people were roaming the plains, clad in skins, three years ago—as wild and warlike a tribe of painted savages as ever harassed the frontier. They were wise enough to know that the agency system meant demoralization and poverty, and to understand that by working, as they saw the white man work, they could get for themselves the good things they saw the white man enjoy.

I saw a little of the Indians of British Columbia during a visit to Victoria. The authorities of that province never treated the Indian tribes as though they were independent nations, owning all the land they roamed over. No treaties were made with them. Small reservations were set apart for their homes, but no money annuities were paid them, and there was no effort to pauperize them by feeding and clothing them at the public expense. The result is that these Indians are not only self-sustaining, but contribute in no inconsiderable degree to the trade and wealth of the province. Last spring over $50,000 was spent by Indians at the Victoria stores for clothing and groceries, from the proceeds of their winter catch of furs. Nor do they live wholly by hunting and fishing. I saw Indians unloading vessels, driving teams, and doing other kinds of labor. Many are at work on the Canada Pacific railroad.

The universal opinion in the northwestern territories is that the reservation and agency system is wholly vicious and ought to be abolished. The essence of this system is to make the Indian think the government is afraid of him, and is eager to buy his friendship and furnish him with food and blankets to keep him from going on the war path. This makes him an arrogant pauper who is ready to turn murderer on the smallest provocation. The Canadians and British Columbians always treated the Indian as if he had reason to fear them, not they him. They protected him in his rights as a human being, and told him that if he wanted food and clothes, he must work as they did.

PACIFIC COAST.

Steamer Tacoma Wrecked Near the Mouth of Umpqua River.

Crew Rescued from the Vessel after Two Days' Suffering.

California Commissioner of Immigration Arrested for Felony.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EMPIRE CITY, Or., Jan. 31.—The steamer Tacoma went ashore Monday night, the 29th, at 9 P. M., four miles north of the Umpqua river. The captain and six men landed yesterday. The tug Sol Thomas went to her yesterday, but could not get the crew off on account of the heavy sea. She was broken amidships, with the stern and the bow being under water. She lays about 300 yards from the shore, with head to the southeast. The captain has sent here for tugs and life boats.

EMPIRE CITY, Or., Feb. 1.—Mr. Charles H. Wells, a passenger on the steamer Tacoma, arrived here this afternoon and reports all persons ashore but six men at dark last night, and he thinks they were landed soon after, as they had a line ashore at dark. The vessel is a total loss.

LATER DISPATCH.

EMPIRE CITY, Jan. 2.—Have nothing later from the wreck of the Tacoma than my dispatch of to-day. Charles Wells, the passenger, who arrived here yesterday, stated to me that at 11 o'clock Monday noon Captain Korts said that they were 25 miles off shore, and at dark no land was in sight, and that the evening was dark but not foggy; that between half-past eight and nine o'clock Capt. Korts retired, and at about 9:15 the ship struck the beach in the outer line of breakers. The second mate was on the bridge at the time the ship struck, but did not either see or hear the breakers until she was in them. The ship was making between 13 and 14 miles per hour at the time she struck. A heavy sea was running at the time and made a complete breach over her. She commenced making water, and in about two hours the firemen had to leave the fire room. In a short time all the boats but one were stove.

ON THE WRECK FOR FORTY EIGHT HOURS.

Tuesday morning Captain Korts landed on the beach to go for assistance. He got the tug Sol. Thomas, at Umpqua river, to go to the wreck, but could not get to the vessel. Captain Korts and men made every effort Tuesday afternoon to return to the ship, but the heavy sea on the beach prevented them doing so. On Wednesday the tug succeeded in getting to the ship, and when Mr. Wells left all but seventeen had been landed, and the rest were probably landed this evening. The ship is BROKEN AMIDSHIPS.

Her bow is in eighteen, and stern in twenty feet of water. She lies heading to the southeast. Mr. Wells thinks that the ship lies about one quarter of a mile from shore, and will be a total loss. Wells and Steinberger were the only passengers. During the two days and nights they were on the wreck, the only food they had was a few crackers.

Mr. Wells speaks in the highest praise of Captain Korts and his officers, in doing all that could be done to rescue them from the wreck.

Captain Korts and crew will come here to take passage for San Francisco.

[The Tacoma is the first of a fleet of four 3000 ton steamships building by the Central Pacific railroad, to ply between San Francisco and Puget sound, carrying coals from the New Carbonado mines. She arrived in San Francisco from Philadelphia about three weeks ago, and made the fastest trip on record around the Horn. She sailed from New Tacoma last Saturday with 3700 tons of coal. Her cost was $250,000. Capt. Korts will be remembered as the former commander of the Shubrick. When the Great Republic was wrecked in the spring of 1879, he rendered great assistance in rescuing her passengers.]

Oregon Land Grants.

ASTORIA, Or., Feb. 2.—The Astoria chamber of commerce has engaged Clarence A. Seward, the eminent jurist, to advocate the forfeiture of the Oregon Central Railroad company land grant before the proper congressional committees. It means business.

New Steamboat for Astoria.

ASTORIA, Feb. 2.—A joint stock company of Astorians have subscribed $20,000 to construct another steamboat for local purposes. The stock was taken, and work will begin at once.

Cold Weather.

This is the coldest day of the season. Water pipes are frozen and bursting all over town.

CALIFORNIA.

California Commissioner of Immigration Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Charles D. Bunker, commissioner of immigration of this state, who was recently examined by the legislative committee, was arrested this afternoon on three complaints sworn to by John F. Burns, charging him with felony. The first complaint charges him with having collected $14,000 over and above his salary of $4000 and the necessary expenses of his office, and that, without the authority of law, he placed the funds collected and entrusted to his care out of his possession, with C. F. Bassett & Co. The second charges him with having collected $4000 and depositing it with his father, H. C. Bunker, while the third charges him with the collection of an equal sum and appropriating it. Bunker was released from custody by giving bail in $15,000.

Financial Affairs of San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—An important meeting of the finance committee of the board of supervisors was held this afternoon, at which a suggestion was made that the legislature be petitioned to allow the city to issue bonds for $1,000,000. It is stated that the municipal government is in urgent need of $500,000 within the next six months. Auditor Edgar submitted a statement showing there would not be funds enough to pay the salaries of employes, and he will refuse to audit any demands for general purposes until the amount for the salaries is collected. When the assessor requested to be allowed 95 deputies for the search work, he was told to go to the state for relief. Altogether the officials are in a quandary.

Cruelty on Board Ship.

Serious complaints are made against the officers of the American ship W. H. Grace, which arrived yesterday from New York. Sailor Smith states the vessel was improperly provisioned, so that when a thousand miles from this port they were obliged to borrow eight casks of bread from a passing vessel. He also charges the second mate, Olsen, with administering a severe beating because he hesitated to go into the ropes when the sea was breaking over the vessel. Finally, when he was on the topsail yard, Olsen came up, and, but for the assistance of another sailor, would have been knocked down by the force of the second mate's blows. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

A One-Eyed Clam.

The Queen arrived this morning from Portland. It appears the passengers were treated to a skirmish between First Officer Hall and one of the steamer's waiters, named Walter Muyson, the hostilities taking place on the hurricane deck, while Muyson was engaged in cleaning a sky light. The story, as told by one of the passengers, is to the effect that the officer called Muyson "a clam." The latter resented the soft imputation with such force that Hall assumed the aggression and punched the waiter in the eye. The belligerents clinched, and when separated Muyson had an optic in mourning. On reaching the dock the subdued waiter started up town to procure a warrant for the mate's arrest.

Found Dead in Bed.

About two weeks ago Martin Petersen came to this city from Washington territory. He was ill at the time, and was accompanied by Samuel Morehead. A physician prescribed for him last night at his room, corner of Fourteenth and Minna streets, and on calling to see him this morning found him dead. Deceased was a native of Denmark and about 28 years of age. He leaves a widow residing at Vancouver, Washington territory. The body was taken to the morgue.

Improved Passenger Accommodations.

Considerable improvement has been made in the steamer Wilmington for the accommodation of northwest passenger traffic. Fore and aft is provided with steam heaters. She sails Thursday for Puget Sound, and returning will touch at Victoria. It is said that the high port charges at the latter place have induced the owners to make the sound their terminus.

The Quickest Trial on Record.

The quickest trial on record took place to-day in the United States district court. Ah Jim, arrested for smuggling tobacco into the port, was arraigned, a jury empaneled, the opening address made, testimony taken, and the verdict of the jury, "guilty," were all finished in fifteen minutes.

Charter Election.

The supreme court to-day, ordered a writ of mandamus to be issued requiring the election commissioners to prepare, according to law, for the holding of a charter election.

Grand Jury Charges.

The federal grand jury submitted a report in connection with the alleged intimidation of workmen at Mare Island navy yard, in the recent election, stating the charges were not substantiated.

RINGS AT WASHINGTON.

The Interest of Banks in Legislation Affecting Bonded Whisky.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Sun's Washington special says: The powerful rings now gathered at Washington exceed in number and wealth all that have appeared here for eight years. These rings expect to do their most effective work in the few remaining weeks of this congress. All the large and many of lesser special interests involved in pending or in proposed changes of the tariff are represented by active and influential agents, outside and inside of congress. They have pooled their issues and will make common cause. The navy ring has won the first engagement in the house. It remains to be seen if the senate will confirm Robeson's work. The great ring of land-grabbers has succeeded, by the action of the judiciary committee of the house, not only in preventing any legislation adverse to this immense interest, but also in keeping the subject from getting before the house at all.

The whisky ring will soon make its last desperate effort. The real truth in this case does not appear upon the surface. The distillers and manufacturers of whisky have little concern about the bill passed by the senate extending the bonded time for two years, or any legislation that may be substituted for it. Speculators and banks are the parties most anxious and most disturbed in mind about the action of congress. There are about 75,000,000 or 80,000,000 gallons of whisky stored. The banks have advanced between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 on warehouse certificates. About $20,000,000 of this paper is held in Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, the remainder is scattered in the great eastern cities. It is undoubtedly true that the banks are seriously embarrassed by the accumulation of these discounted certificates, and they can get no relief from the speculators who put them up as collateral security. The banks, therefore are practically the owners of the whisky, and their situation is rendered more critical because they will be compelled, for self protection, to pay the tax on this stock as it becomes due. The aggregate tax will be about $74,000,000 or $77,000,000, distributed over two years and ten months.

It is thus seen that the banks which have loaned much of their capital, tempted by high rates of interest, on whisky now in bond, are the actual supplicants for legislation, though they do not so appear before congress. Some of them are in a bad predicament and are unable to carry this heavy load. They are timid about taking active part, fearing that a disclosure of their weakness might precipitate a disaster.

Mr. Booth's Triumph.

New York Mail and Express.

The success of Mr. Edwin Booth in his appearance as "Hamlet" before a German audience in Berlin is something of which we may all be proud. We are so accustomed to importing our celebrated actors that when the balance of trade inclines the other way the feeling of jubilation may well be pardoned us. It is well, also, to remember that nowhere is Shakespeare more frequently acted than in Germany, and the managers in that country are distinguished from those in America and England by giving the plays as Shakespeare wrote them. They have a confidence, not wholly undeserved, in his knowledge of the stage. Since the old days when Shakespeare was regarded as a rude genius whose work needed dilution before it could satisfy modern critics, he has been hacked and maimed in a most ruthless fashion. "Lortinbras," for example, has been almost as unknown to the English stage as "Ralph Roister Doister," yet doubtless when Shakespeare drew that manly, active character, he had a definite notion of his importance.

"The excellence of the German version of Shakespeare is well known. The German tongue is exceptionally well suited for translation; the similarity between it and English, and its adaptability to the representation of various forms of expression are qualities that were put to their best use by Schlegel and Tieck in their wonderful translation. A French rendering of Shakespeare is as remote from the original as is Mr. William Morris' translation of the "Aeneid" into "early English," but the German one is vivid and lifelike.

Mr. Booth was doubtless well supported, for the German stage is probably the second best in the world. To be sure, the French give it, but the German actors are by no means to be laughed at. The public which the American tragedian satisfied is one that is accustomed to good acting, and is possibly a little inclined to plume itself on the sole possession of the key to Shakespeare, and to have won its approbation is a most satisfactory triumph.

Lurline McCaffery.

Chicago Tribune.

"Give me the ring."

Lurline McCaffery stood in an oriel window with the sunlight beating in warm, golden waves about her slight form, and at her right, his hand outstretched in eager expectancy, while a half-imperious, half pleading look shot from his big brown eyes, was Marmaduke Short. The girl had been standing there nearly thirty seconds without speaking, the light streaming in upon the soft waves of hair, the fathomless eyes and the calm, sweet mouth. It was not a youthful face; the bloom and flesh had faded long ago, but it was so grand and womanly; there was such an I-know-how-to-do-up-my-hair look upon it that in comparison mere girlish prettiness lost immeasurably.

At this moment Pansy Perkins entered the room. She had twisted an azure-hued scarf around her shoulders, and her yellow hair fell about her like a cloud. Throwing a kiss to Lurline, whose silence she did not understand, Pansy flitted away to the piano at the other end of the room and began to lower rents in the vicinity. Snatches of the soft, murmurous music filled the air and made the place seem strangely sad. The twilight was approaching, and as the dark shadows fell the music sobbed and surged through the room. Lurline listened intently, and finally she spoke:

"You really wish to break our engagement then?" she asked.

Marmaduke spoke no word, but the inclination of his head showed that the girl had not guessed amiss.

"And you will marry Pansy?"

Again the head was bowed, and the dimpled chin hit his shirt front.

"Then I give you the ring with pleasure," said the girl. "I could wish for no sweeter revenge."

"What do you mean?" asks the man, his face pallid with an undefinable fear.

"I mean," she says, her every word falling upon his tinted ear, as fall the earth-clods upon a coffin, "that in addition to playing the piano, she sometimes sings."

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. [illegible] 1883

STATE OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

In a recent [illegible] partment the [illegible] States [illegible] ment [illegible] railways [illegible] which sets forth th[illegible] the state ha[illegible] but is also th[illegible] roads are [illegible] a system which [illegible] would not last [illegible] general shows that [illegible] the ultimate control [illegible] the central [illegible] of every [illegible] of railroad [illegible] either a source of [illegible] swift transportation of soldiers. The policy was not invented by the present chancellor however. In the very beginning [illegible] construct [illegible] in Germany [illegible] finance felt. A Prussian [illegible] 1838 [illegible] a sinking fund tax on railroad [illegible] raising money to pay [illegible] that the roads ought there [illegible] run at the cost of the service and the [illegible] that at the expiration of a given time [illegible] should have the privilege of buying the roads. Prussia began to subsidize and build railroads in 1842 and from 1849 to 1859 what [illegible] Heydt was minister of commerce, taxes [illegible] imposed to buy up railroads [illegible] for a firm and systematic policy which had in view the acquisition of all railroads by the government. From 1859 until 1871 the [illegible] pause in the pursuit of this end. The military needs of the newly formed empire and the [illegible] centralizing tendencies of Bismarck led to a revival of the von der Heydt policy and in 1873 the government commission reported that "it appears desirable to transfer to the empire the general supervision of German railroads and to regulate them by imperial laws and tribunals. Upon the Prussian state railroads alone there were employed in 1881 48,659 officials and 63,787 workmen, a total of 112,446, an army equal to our own civil service force. State ownership thus becomes one of the main pillars of bureaucracy, for if occasion should arise it is certain that the pressure of the chancellor's hand would be felt in every railroad shop and on every line in Prussia. The mere fact that a man is employed in the government service, however, is, in Germany commonly enough to make him a pretty staunch supporter of its authority. The claim that shippers and travelers are greatly accommodated by state ownership, through the resulting simplification of the service, is disputed by many foreigners who have had occasion to use German railways.

Though it is apparent to all outside observers that this is one of the most effective of all schemes of centralizing power, public opinion in Prussia seems to favor, the people being indifferent to the bond that binds them; but in the smaller states there are strong objections to the control of the roads by the central government, and some of these states have bought up roads within their respective domains in order to forestall the imperial government's plan. As a financial undertaking the Prussian system is reasonably successful, since a 5 per cent. return is made on $800,000,000 invested in the roads, but the methods upon which the roads are operated are niggardly and unaccommodating as compared to those in use with us. Indeed they would not be tolerated in this country at all. The state roads are profitable simply because much of the rolling stock is of the cheapest and shabbiest description and the running time tediously slow.

The scheme of placing the railroads of the country under control of the central government has its advocates with us; but there is little probability that it would ever be approved by a majority of the people. It certainly would not till service under the government shall have been divorced from partisan politics. The unsettled problems of railway management would embarrass congress, the system would create a swarm of officeholders great beyond all precedent, and would be a never-failing source of political corruption. If it is difficult now to bear the abuses of our political system and to hold corruption in check, how would it be with the opportunities for abuses and corruptions so vastly magnified? Like objections would lie against control by the government of the telegraphs of the country. These schemes will never be safe ones at least till the country shall first reform its civil service—a result which still seems a long way off.

DRY BUSINESS FACTS.

Reports on the condition of trade throughout the United States at the beginning of the year are disappointing both to the croakers who a few months ago predicted woeful things, and the sanguine ones who imagined that there could be no end or check to prosperity. Sixty-one railroads in December show gross earnings of $[illegible], or only $[illegible] more than in the same month of 1881, though the mileage grew from 43,297 to 47,31[illegible]. It is true that the earnings of 56 roads for the calendar year were $[illegible],147,943, or 12 per cent. above the figures of the previous year, but this gain had been expected and allowed for in business calculations. The important question is what have the roads been doing of late, and what is the outlook for the next six months. For no month of the year since June has the exhibit been so poor as for December. The northwest, which enjoyed a high degree of activity in the fall when other parts of the country complained of dullness, is conspicuous in the decline, while the southwestern and southern roads show gains. The east and west trunk lines are not included in these reports, but it is said that they have had a very heavy traffic of late.

The foreign trade is in excellent shape and it will doubtless continue so for months but the expectation of large gold imports—unreasonable from the first—has not been realized. It is easy, says the New York Financial Gazette, to figure out favorable balances in the exchange of merchandise, but there is an immense traffic that never makes a mark on the books of the custom house. The invisible flow and re-flow of securities is of great importance. It is probable that Europeans have shared the weakening of confidence felt in this country and parted with many of their American stocks. Sterling exchange is now held well above the gold-importing point and purchases have recently been made at these rates for February, March and April. Some of the financial papers have been in a constant quarrel with sterling for weeks because it stays above the gold level but its market price is worth more as showing the condition of international traffic than all the figures the custom house can furnish. It is rarely touched by purely speculative influence.

Reports of a bad outlook in European fields have strengthened the cereal and provision markets of this country but higher prices do not stimulate the marketing of goods and there are no large accumulations at any of the great markets. Among the sellers of cotton the complaint is that the crop is [illegible] the European spinning ind[illegible] there is danger that a large surplus will [illegible] on our hands at the end of the year [illegible] quality is low [illegible] this country and will [illegible] the Am[illegible] exchange [illegible] speculat[illegible] [illegible] haps the most un[illegible] [illegible] situation [illegible] the great num[illegible] of the late [illegible] class [illegible] and the reduc[illegible] factures.

And in [illegible] [illegible] spiritual [illegible] [illegible] Tale [illegible] from Socrates to Macaulay as reported by Mr. Riddle of New York in his book [illegible] long ago. A more [illegible] lot of stuff than that which he gives us under the names of best and wisest of mankind it would be difficult to imagine. To account for faith in these things it is only necessary to take note of the fact that there is a perfect wealth of local credulity lying around waiting for something hard enough to believe. There is no end of people to whom such a labyrinth of assumption and mystery is a most precious boon. It cannot be cured. It supplies a demand. The only thing that needs to be done is to warn the unwary that supernaturally considered, it has no value. Psychologically however it may be useful as a safety valve.

Not long ago the absurd and untrue statement was printed by an alleged newspaper that THE OREGONIAN had been forbidden to publish the list of arrivals at the hotels of Portland, that the hotels had united in an agreement not to allow it to have or to publish the same, and that the sale of the paper had been forbidden in or about them. It was added that the hotel keepers of the city had entered into an agreement that in case any one of them should break the contract such person should forfeit $100. Papers all over the country are reprinting this idle story, with the added statement that the hotel keepers have taken this course in order to punish THE OREGONIAN for having said that Portland has no first-class hotel, and for having urged the necessity of the erection of one. The simple fact is that this paper does not print the hotel lists because it objects to doing so without proper compensation. As to the other part of the story, it may be supposed that the hotel keepers of Portland know as well as other people that the city has no first-class hotel and we have yet to be convinced that they are men of so poor judgment as to suppose that any point can be made against this paper for setting forth the fact as an argument for supplying this real need of a growing commercial city like Portland.

The defeat of Windom in Minnesota is the triumph of Dunnell, a local politician of considerable note and a member of the house of representatives who was defeated last fall in his efforts to secure re-election. Dunnell held Windom and his friends responsible for his defeat, and started on the war path for political scalps and personal revenge. It was mainly through his efforts that enough republican members were held away from Windom to secure the latter's defeat. Windom is a man of fair repute but he is not a great man, and as he has been before the people of his state a good while, many of them have tired of him. And a good many politicians wanted him out of the way so as to secure "a new deal."

A dispatch from Astoria reports that the chamber of commerce has engaged Mr. Clarence A. Seward to advocate the forfeiture of the Oregon Central railroad land grant before the congressional committees. We learn also that Mr. Augustus Kinney of Astoria, will go east to aid in this matter.

Isham G. Harris who has just been elected senator from Tennessee is one of the distinguished American Englishmen who traveled for his political health after the war and settled for a time in Her Majesty's dominions. He was a Liverpool merchant for several years.

Columbia county has come to be one of Portland's best sources of fresh meat supply. The ranges of Deer Island and Scappoose plains have during the past few months contributed many a fat steer to our markets.

D. M. Sabin who has been elected United States senator in Minnesota is a member of the firm of Seymour, Sabin & Co. well known all over the northwest to purchasers of agricultural implements and machinery.

Important testimony on the star route frauds is supplied by witnesses from Oregon. A full quota of these frauds was perpetrated in this state.

The cold weather exposes a deal of bad plumbing in the city. The work may be poor but the prices are first-class.

The telegraphic gossip about President Arthur's attentions to a Miss [illegible] is impertinent in the extreme.

Woolen Mills.

Albany Democrat [illegible]

Much has been said of late among the people of this city [illegible] the propriety of offering some inducement to [illegible] to come here and establish woolen mills. No better water power can be found on the coast than we have here. We are situated in the heart of the most extensive agricultural region in the state. Our valley [illegible] Linn, Lane, Benton, Polk, Yamhill, Washington and Clackamas will [illegible] [illegible] and enterprising population [illegible] will be by the addition of thousands of [illegible] brought hither by the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad [illegible] [illegible] all kinds will [illegible] establishment for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Sunday Newspapers.

R. [illegible] Smith [illegible] Cincinnati [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible] Gazette [illegible] after [illegible] day newspaper [illegible] at [illegible] indicates another step in the concession. [illegible] to this demand. Mr. Smith says that his paper [illegible] did not like to go out [illegible] day and a paper which should [illegible] those who would not take a Sunday paper could not live in Cincinnati. He continues:

This is the experience in the Gazette office and the point had been almost reached when in self defense and in order to satisfy a large majority of the readers a Sunday edition of the Gazette would have to become a necessity. Unfortunately, in many if not in most cases Sunday papers pandered to the lower tastes of readers and objectionable reading matter or what is usually called sensational was held over or provided for. In order that it might be printed in the paper that is most read and that is most largely introduced into families. It is true that there is a demand for this class of matter but it is not true that it is wanted by the larger class and it is to rely upon the latter who must either elevate it or drop themselves of a Sunday paper. In our opinion far more importance attaches to what is printed in a paper than when it is printed. Without claiming to be better than other people or asking consideration on the ground of high moral ideas we shall issue our influence to the end that the Gazette [illegible] may be read on Sunday and on every other day without offending the sensibilities of any one and that its mission shall be one of good and not of mischief.

An Anecdote of Jefferson Davis.

New Orleans Times Democrat

As Mr. Davis retreated through South Carolina he caused his private papers to be left in charge of those friends whom he knew to be faithful and true. As an evidence of his appreciation of their kindness to accept and guard so important a trust, he gave them one or two mementoes of the war which they carefully preserved. On Mr. Davis' first visit to this family several years after the war these relics were brought forth. Among them were a chair, the model of a gun invented by Mr. Davis while secretary of war and a bullet riddled battle flag. As the chief representative of the lost confederate states army he held that flag in his hand and recognized it as one which had been gallantly borne at the battle of Chickamauga the sad memories of the war rushed over the hearts of all present. In expressing the deep emotion which had been awakened, one of the ladies said: "Mr. Davis I believe the ladies were worse rebels than the men." To which at once Mr. Davis, with the warmth of a patriot with the dignity of a statesman and with the deference of a gentleman replied: "Better patriots, madam." That was a grand and true reply.

Residence in the spirit world does not appear to help those engaged in the show business. Spirits who come back for these fool purposes make the same old discordant guitar strumming and tambourine racket they did years ago. The jugglers should try and work the angels for a little heavenly music.

[illegible] WASHINGTON.—[illegible] the Washington monument commission to the [illegible] of all the states a long time ago, was to the effect that a stone suitably engraved should be [illegible] to be placed in the monument [illegible] tribute from the various commonwealths [illegible] memory of the Father of his country. Oregon [illegible] the stone which she is to furnish [illegible] the invitation has been accepted and the long [illegible] really was unavoidable. Although the [illegible] made no appropriation for the cost [illegible] both the governor and the secretary [illegible] as well as many individual members of the [illegible] have given assurance that there will be [illegible] in the paying for it. The Hon. M. [illegible] has charge of the matter at the present [illegible] under his direction the work of preparing [illegible] for the monument is being done by the [illegible] of the Eagle Marble Works in this [illegible] of the Eagle Marble Works has taken out four [illegible] They state that they [illegible] quarries of the state, two [illegible] from [illegible] but the first three [illegible] two marble slabs, but the reason that they [illegible] either cracked or some defect was found [illegible] The fourth slab was taken from a [illegible] Josephine county is an excellent piece of [illegible] barring all accident to will [illegible] the thirty seven others that are [illegible] the stairway, in the interior [illegible] at Washington. [illegible] WAITS.—The last stroke of twelve [illegible] from the great bell in the old [illegible] the frozen air and a hushed stillness [illegible] over the sleep-mantled city. [illegible] of flying hoofs and the rumble of [illegible] reverberated in the street, and two [illegible] flecked with foam, drew up in front of [illegible] street. From a hack there [illegible] lady fair to see, with roseate ringlets [illegible] the breeze that could not cool the burning [illegible] that fell from her eyes and sent the [illegible] through her cheeks. It was the [illegible] With one little jeweled hand [illegible] of the electric bell at the [illegible] The great door swung [illegible] hinges, and Sir Captain Luther [illegible] "O, Sir Captain, prithee [illegible] for that dastard knight, Sir [illegible] whose coward hand hath imprinted a [illegible] the face of Lady Daisy Murk—r!" "I [illegible] the hackman wants to make [illegible] thy complaint before Lord [illegible] Moreland, who now sweetly [illegible] the spectral halls of his mansion, [illegible] and Clay streets." Murmuring her [illegible] Daisy re-entered the hack, crying [illegible] persecuted woman, and—on in a [illegible] coursers again dashed away [illegible] From a niche in the castle wall [illegible] form of an ubiquitous reporter, [illegible] seated himself upon the car [illegible] and composed himself to await de[illegible] [illegible] Moreland mansion was wrapped [illegible] the judge in a tucked and frilled silk [illegible] came to the door in answer to the [illegible] revolving in his mind the thoughts [illegible] a Gretna Green couple as his eyes [illegible] form of the lady and the hackman. [illegible]—The successive floods and [illegible] month have had a most disas[illegible] [illegible] and loud, deep and numer[illegible] [illegible] complaints and objurgations [illegible] head of Wm. Braden, Esq., [illegible] of Portland town. The reporters [illegible] assailed daily to call Mr. [illegible] the condition of a thousand [illegible] mud holes here, and holes [illegible] there, and all such trifling [illegible] of these facts coupled with [illegible] manipulation of his thumb, has [illegible] low for some time. Yester[illegible] came o'er the spirit of his [illegible] his chariot and wrapping his [illegible] he drove like Jehu from [illegible] the attention of all he met to [illegible] of the streets. Those who [illegible] mud, more mud!" hearkened to [illegible] for there was no mud, and [illegible] proper spoonful for all the [illegible] on all the street crossings [illegible] cold day for the fault-finders. [illegible] blizzard shall have blown [illegible] emerges from his hiding [illegible] forth his gentle showers, [illegible] hunt his hole, and probably [illegible] till July or thereabouts.

[illegible]—Early yesterday morning [illegible] was loafing around Dave Levin's [illegible] street, entered a room at the [illegible] was taking a siesta in a [illegible] of his gold watch and chain. [illegible] went out the barkeeper noticed [illegible] gone and going into a neigh[illegible] [illegible] Duff was charged him with [illegible] acknowledged that he had taken them [illegible] them, and accordingly went [illegible] and passed through to the [illegible] of leaving the watch and [illegible] by a back door and vanished. [illegible] were informed of the [illegible] Duffy to his room, where they [illegible] and the watch. He was [illegible] jail, where he spent the balance of [illegible] Yesterday morning he said, if allowed [illegible] room, he would find the watch, and ac[illegible] Captain Luther started with him, and [illegible] Ward on the way sent him [illegible] produced the watch from under [illegible] room. He then thought he [illegible] but Ward could not see it in [illegible] him back to jail. He will [illegible] to-day.

[illegible]—A meeting of the Multno[illegible] [illegible] club was held at the office of [illegible] evening. About a dozen of the [illegible] attendance. The business under [illegible] the advisability of disbanding [illegible] a new one. It seems that [illegible] of stringent rules, or the non[illegible] of the members with such [illegible] workings of the organization [illegible] of late. Some were in [illegible] forming a new club, and [illegible] to continue the old organ[illegible] [illegible] the initiation fee and to adopt [illegible] which would obviate the [illegible] complained of. The latter [illegible] and it was voted that the init[illegible] [illegible] to $20 after the first of April, [illegible] and furnish suitable rooms, and [illegible] them attractive by a supply [illegible] journals, etc., and will decorate [illegible] of the various game birds of [illegible] chiefly owing to the labors of [illegible] game law was passed by the last [illegible] members will endeavor to see [illegible] are strictly enforced.

[illegible]—In the state circuit [illegible] suits for damages against the O. [illegible] by Miles Creegan and William [illegible] dismissed without cost to the plain[illegible] [illegible] been effected. Creegan's [illegible] for trial on Thursday and evi[illegible] [illegible] remainder of that day. The in[illegible] [illegible] claimed damages were received [illegible] the Holladay avenue bridge, in [illegible] a year ago. Two men were [illegible] and the plaintiff injured. Its [illegible] that inexperienced men were put [illegible] experienced boss. Welty and [illegible] for the plaintiff, and E. C. Bro[illegible] for the company. The case [illegible] against the company, which had [illegible] to the latter's favor, was based on [illegible] although a different acci[illegible] [illegible] conference of the attorneys in the [illegible] the decision in the other case. And to the thrilling nar[illegible] [illegible] the brief fact that the bail[illegible] [illegible] to the coping of the dome and [illegible] while the other two held the [illegible] is concluded.

[illegible]—All slides having been cleared [illegible] N. Co., resumed freight traffic at [illegible] the regular east bound after[illegible] time. The Hassalo coming down [illegible] yesterday, encountered some [illegible] sheathed with iron and has an ice [illegible] with slight delay. Sixty pas[illegible] [illegible] by the Bonita at 7 A. M. yesterday, [illegible] at 1 P. M. The Bonita had also [illegible] freight for The Dalles, and the [illegible] freeze up to-day, sent it through [illegible] There are only even chances [illegible] able to get down to-day. Ow[illegible] [illegible] of timber to repair trestle work, [illegible] road, between Ainsworth and [illegible] yet been put in running order. [illegible] and South Bastian bridges on the [illegible] gauge road are gone; and it is not [illegible] will run beyond West Slayton for [illegible]

[illegible] BIRTHDAY.—The Washington Guard [illegible] Sons of America, have issued invita[illegible] [illegible] grand union ball to be given on the [illegible] of February 22d next at Masonic hall. The [illegible] committees are announced: Honorary [illegible] Gov. Z. F. Moody, [illegible] A. C. Gibbs, [illegible] W. H. Effinger, Brig.-Gen. [illegible] Lt. Col. [illegible] [illegible] Thomas Mountain, [illegible] Capt. H. Cooke, Lt. [illegible] M. Stuart, [illegible] M. Taylor, [illegible] Floor Committee—Lt. R. M. [illegible] [illegible] There will be a grand parade [illegible] which will be given hereafter.

[illegible] WITH PERJURY.—[illegible] was arrested by Constable Grant on a warrant [illegible] with perjury, issued by Justice [illegible] Taylor, [illegible] [illegible] which was [illegible] court. The [illegible] the case [illegible] he was taken [illegible] the county jail.

SAD AFFAIR.—Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Sager, a resident of Tibbet's addition, while out in the yard of her residence, was seized with a fit and fell to the ground apparently lifeless. Her children ran to a neighbor's screaming that their mother was dead. Alonzo Gates, who resides near by, went to the assistance of Mrs. Sager and carried her into the house, and she shortly recovered. Last evening, as he was going [illegible], his wife told him to call and see how Mrs. Sager was. He found her sitting by the stove nursing her infant, about four months old, and apparently quite recovered. While he was talking to her, all at once she allowed the child to slide from her arms, its face striking against the stove and being burned severely, while the unfortunate woman fell from the chair in another fit. After a considerable time she was restored to consciousness, but is still suffering severely.

THE WEATHER.—We are having an exact [illegible] of the mid-January cold spell, with the same disagreeable accompaniment of north and east winds. The mercury at 4 o'clock yesterday morning was 16 degrees above zero and in the afternoon got up to 22. At [illegible] o'clock this morning it [illegible] down [illegible]. Weather on the Columbia indicates the customary rigor, with a tendency to more rigor. A dispatch from [illegible] says that the mercury at 4 P. M. marked [illegible] below, that the snow lay [illegible] deep and bridge work on the railroad was suspended. But that is not a circumstance to weather at Meacham station, in the Blue mountains, two weeks ago. The mercury reached [illegible] below [illegible], froze in the tube and remained frozen two days. This is vouched for by one of the O. R. & N. Co.'s engineers. The freeze up came just in time for the children's two non-school days [illegible] vacation.

FOR THE HOME.—The [illegible] ask [illegible] to announce that eight good hearted girls, Nellie and Katie Montgomery, Daisy and Carrie Harker, Lucy Schuyler, Helen Burrell, Kate Randall and Clara Teal, will give an entertainment next Monday evening, beginning at half past seven, at Mr. Teal's residence, corner Fourth and Yamhill streets, for the benefit of the Home. They will give a fan drill and after that will serve refreshments. Twenty-five cents will be the admission fee and a like charge for refreshments has been fixed. An invitation is hereby extended to all their friends to come, witness their efforts to please, and to contribute towards the maintenance of an institution which throws around many children the protection of a Christian home, and places them on the road to honorable and happy manhood and womanhood.

FIRE.—About half past eight last night, fire was discovered in the rear of M. Marks' shoe store, on the southwest corner of Front and Alder. Alarms were telephoned from the Esmond and Joe Teyl[illegible], and as usual there was very prompt service. A stream from One's pipe through the Alder street door for two minutes, extinguished the flames. About twenty cases of rubber boots and other goods were burned, and much of the stock was damaged by water. The loss is probably $1500, and is covered by policies in Bachman's agency. When discovered, the fire was burning in some boxes piled near the stove, which was probably overheated. The floor underneath the stove was burned through, and the fire may have been caused by coals dropping through the bottom.

OREGON COMPARISON.—Passing up First street last evening in one of Joe Holladay's Pullman palace cars an OREGONIAN reporter noticed a prairie schooner standing in front of a grocery store. A stovepipe reared its fragile form above the structure and from its top rose a thin blue column of smoke. A bale of hay wedged into the stern of the vehicle warded off the chill blast and the outfit presented a promise of easy comfort compared with which the car was an Artic desert. The reporter knew by the smoke which so gracefully curled o'er the old canvas top, that some granger was near, and he said to himself if that stove is red hot it's more comfortable in there than it begins to be here.

SHOULD BE BUOYED.—For the last five weeks, bar pilots have been using the new south channel in crossing out and in, and as it is not always an easy matter to get the line, are of the opinion that it should be buoyed. The north channel is shoaling, and all vessels now prefer the new channel, the O. R. & N. steamers crossing to the south whenever practicable. The attention of the lighthouse inspector is directed to this matter. Under the most favorable circumstances the occupation of a pilot of the Columbia river bar is one requiring the constant exercise of skill, courage and nerve. The buoying of the new south channel is an immediate necessity.—Astorian.

DAMAGED BY FLOATING LOGS.—Yesterday morning the little steamer Breeze collided with a huge log, and at once began filling with water. Fortunately the accident happened near the dock, and she was at once landed near the foot of Alder street. The boat rapidly filled and soon disappeared beneath the water, and at present only the top of her smoke-stack is visible. The Sellwood ferryboat, Dolly, also ran into a heavy log, and was badly stove in. She put in at Central dock, where it was found that a hole three feet long and the width of a plank was knocked in her side, on a line with the water. She was pumped out and quickly repaired, resuming trips last night.

GAVE LEG BAIL.—Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Paulina Manden complained at the police office that she had been grievously insulted by a cabman named Martin Johnson, alias Dutchie, and stated that she wished to swear out a warrant for his arrest. While the document was being made out Dutchie was seen peeping around the corner of the fence at the archbishop's palace, and upon a policeman strolling up that way, he took to his heels and up to midnight had not been arrested. He will probably be gathered into the fold to-day, as the crime with which he is charged is not serious enough to lead him to expatriate himself.

INVOLUNTARY EXCURSION.—The steamship Columbia arrived at her dock about 7:30 last evening. The bow line was made fast to a spile, when the force of the wind and the strong current threw the ship's bow away from the wharf, snapping the fast like a tow string. The current swung the ship entirely around, and away she started for San Francisco. It took some time to get her about again, but opposite Albina the riffle was made, and after an hour's delay the gallant ship was again made fast to her dock, this time for keeps. Captain Bolles did not seem altogether pleased with the excursion.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE.—Mr. McLeod, who resides near Dilley, Washington county, was in the city yesterday endeavoring to make arrangements for the establishment at Salem of a mill for the manufacture of oat meal, pearl barley, split peas, etc. The market for these articles has increased greatly here of late, and such a mill would doubtless prove a profitable investment. It is likely that if built it will be supplied with machinery for preparing oat meal both by grinding and by cutting, as is now done at the east.

OUT AND IN AGAIN.—Joseph Carter was discharged from the county jail yesterday morning at the expiration of a sentence. He stated as he went out that he would be back by 5 o'clock P. M., and sure enough, a little before that time, Constable Noonan came marching into the jail with Carter in tow. He had been tried in Justice Keegan's court for assault and battery and sentenced to twelve days' imprisonment. This will probably carry him through the cold snap and another sentence or two will last till the grass starts.

GRAND JURY WILL ADJOURN.—The grand jury has had a very busy session, and last evening had passed upon the case of every man held to answer in the county jail, with the exception of a person named Floyd, who was sent up yesterday on a charge of perjury. There are now only 25 prisoners in the jail, a reduction of 20 within two weeks. The grand jury will adjourn to-day for a month, by which time unless the millenium arrives, there will probably be another batch of offenders requiring their attention.

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT TO-NIGHT.—This evening, at half past eight o'clock, under the auspices of the ladies of Trinity church, a Broom drill will be given by fourteen young ladies. They will be uniformed in suits of unique and tasteful design and will go through a march and the manual of arms, under command of one of their own number as captain. Dancing will follow to the music of Varney's band.

HOMESICK CHINAMAN.—A Chinaman named Young Foo, who has been at the county poor farm for some time, was brought into town yesterday and after examination by the county court, was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum. He was very violent and had to be held down in the wagon in which he was brought in by two men. It is said his derangement was caused by homesickness.

CHEAP LOT.—The buildings, some half dozen in number, on the quarter block at the northeast corner of Second and Yamhill streets were sold at auction yesterday. The whole amount realized was $55. The removal of these old shanties and the erection of a fine brick block on the ground will make a great improvement in the appearance of that part of the city.

ACCIDENT.—While going to the fire last night, Two's engine (the new machine) became disabled at the corner of First and Washington. One of the side braces which support the boiler, broke and allowed the boiler to tilt out of plumb till it rested against the hind wheel. The damage is about $50 and can be repaired with little delay.

COLONY COMING.—L. M. Gydsen, of Omaha, who came here to select a location for a large colony of Swedes now residing in Nebraska, leaves for home by this morning's steamer. He has chosen a fertile tract of government land in the Palouse country, east of Colfax, and will bring the colony out early next spring.

LIBERTY MEETINGS.—Dr. Hi[illegible]gton, by special request, will deliver his second lecture at Nonpareil hall, Sunday evening. Subject: Nervousness, the barometer of civilization; brainwork favors longevity, vital tenacity and vital vigor; physical future of the composite American.

ANOTHER PUBLICATION.—The first number of the Albina Herald, published by Curtis & Pittenger, made its appearance yesterday. It has a fair advertising patronage, and promises to devote itself to building up the town of Albina and to give all the local news.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning, in the case of the United States vs Martin, upon the demurrer to the information charging the defendant with assaulting a U. S. officer in the attempt to execute legal process.

GAMBLERS ARRESTED.—A passenger who arrived last night says that the police of Seattle arrested every gambler except two in that town. The two received information that a raid was to be made, and left town suddenly.

NOVEL DREDGING APPARATUS.

The Principle of Hydraulic Mining Applied to Removing Bars—Invention of J. H. Hufler, of Jacksonville, Or.

Several months ago a patent was granted to John H. Hufler, of Jacksonville, in this state, for an apparatus for removing sand [illegible] channels in harbors, etc. Mr. [illegible] has sent to Capt. Chas. F. Powell, U. S. [illegible] drawings of the apparatus, with a description of its workings. [illegible] with a force pump, which is connected with a hydraulic tube. [illegible] [illegible] down stream with a velocity equal to the current of the stream until it passes over the bar. This is continued until the required depth is reached.

In this operation, the first impulse of the jet from the tube meets with considerable resistance, but as the jet continues to flow, the water alongside of it is put in motion in the same direction and it flows with a velocity nearly equal to the jet, thereby reducing the resistance and increasing the excavating action of the jet, and producing a broad current which carries the excavated material far away from its place of excavation.

Mr. Hufler writes that he has no means with which to introduce his patent, but is anxious to have a practical test made of its efficiency.

HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL.

A Silver Shield Presented to Gen. Nelson A. Miles by the Officers of the 5th U. S. Infantry.

A very handsome testimonial, presented to Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commander of the department of the Columbia, by the officers of the 5th U. S. Infantry, was on exhibition in the window of Stone's jewelry store yesterday. It is a shield of silver over nearly two feet in length and of proportionate width with a bronzed border, on which is inscribed the names of the [illegible] states and territories in which he has served.

At the [illegible] of the shield is the head of [illegible] and [illegible], below which is a [illegible] bearing in relief a profile likeness of the general. Under this is a trophy [illegible] [illegible] bronze tablet bearing the following inscription:

"Presented to Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. Army, by the officers of the 5th U. S. Infantry, as a token of personal esteem and of their estimate of his distinguished services, in which unequaled [illegible] [illegible] were paralleled by humanity and justice towards the thousands of Indians whom he took captive and instructed in the arts of civilization."

At the sides and [illegible] were engraved [illegible] [illegible] as General Miles must have been familiar with in his campaigns.

Opposite the name of Texas is a spirited representation of a buffalo [illegible]. The Indian territory is represented by a war dance. Colorado by Indians laying down their arms to officers of the U. S. army, Wyoming, party of infantry soldiers on the [illegible] ground, near whom are seated a couple of children [illegible] from a bluff [illegible] Kansas, a band of wild horses racing over a plain. In wild freedom, Dakota and Montana are represented by a farmer plowing and a party of laborers building a railroad. The testimonial was made [illegible] New York, and is one of the most beautiful and costly articles of the kind ever seen here.

"STRUCK BY A CYCLONE!"
"REAL VALUES CUT IN TWO!"
Persistency in giving customers full value for their money, honorable and just treatment, with strictly one price to all, must succeed by force of will and intelligence of an indulgent public. Every object sought to be obtained by us can be set down in a few words, and the public are asked to wait and judge how thoroughly it will be done. We will aim to extend our business, and get the old idea out of the heads of our competitors that a hundred and two hundred per cent. profit is necessary in order to succeed. We believe that extensive sales will equalize in the long run high prices. We act on the belief that people will come to realize what we say to be stubborn, cold, hard, unadulterated truthful facts. We are convinced that the City of Portland will support a house where goods can be bought with as small a profit as is possible consistent with the most economical business expenses. We will endeavor to merit the confidence of those who favor us with their patronage.

Revolutionists Capture Esmeraldas after a Hard Fought Battle.

Depredations of Bandits in a Province of Mexico.

Loss of Life in a Panic in a Bombay Woolen Factory.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

PANAMA, Feb. 2.—The capture of Esmeraldas, a leading port of Ecuador, by revolutionists under Colonel Luisvanzes, was effected after 18 hours' obstinate fighting in the town, the dictator's troops losing 40 killed and 40 wounded, and the revolutionists 13 killed and 26 wounded. Before retreating the dictator's troops plundered the town, setting it on fire in three places. Eloy Alfano is a uniqualed dictator of the republic. It is known that one of the first measures to be adopted by Alfano is the expulsion of Jesuits and the establishment of restrictions upon the prerogatives of clergy.

In Guayaquil a panic prevails and the people are fleeing the town. It is the last stronghold of the dictator. He was impressing men, horses and everything available to military service. From Chili it is learned Minister Partridge is about to pay a visit to Montrose. Representatives of all foreign powers at Lima are about to recommend their governments to send a combined note to Chili. The Chilians are now collecting another $100,000 tax. This time several of Pierola's friends are fined $2000.

PANAMA.

Coffee Crop of Costa Rica.

PANAMA, Jan. 29.—The coffee crop of Costa Rica this year is estimated at 125,000 quintals, or less than 50 per cent of an average year. It is believed that about one-half this amount will make its exit from all parts of the republic through Limon, whilst the remainder will pass through Punta Arenas. Sailing vessels are being already chartered to carry it to San Francisco and London. Little coffee in future will be brought to Panama for shipment by railroad.

ENGLAND.

Two Vessels Lost off the Isle of Man.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A heavy gale prevails around the British coast to-day, and a number of casualties are reported. Two coasting vessels were wrecked on the Isle of Man and the crews were drowned.

In Search of Information.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Detectives have gone to America to obtain information regarding the movements of Devoy and Gen. Miller in recent years.

IRELAND.

Archbishop McCabe Ill.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—Archbishop McCabe is lying ill at his residence, at Monkstown. He is physically prostrated, but no serious apprehensions are entertained.

WALES.

Three Vessels and Crews Lost.

CARDIFF, Feb. 2.—A steamer and two other vessels were wrecked off Lundy island and the crews were drowned. Assistance was impossible.

BOMBAY.

Twenty-three Women Killed in a Woolen Factory.

BOMBAY, Feb. 2.—In a panic in a woolen factory yesterday, caused by an alarm of fire, twenty-three women were killed. They were crushed to death in the struggle to escape.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Twenty-three persons were killed and 28 injured by a panic in a wool factory, caused by dust blowing into the room.

Disturbance in Central India.

BOMBAY, Feb. 2.—A serious disturbance has broken out among the Bhils. The governor has ordered measures for protection of the frontier at Rewah.

MEXICO.

[illegible] Captured by Bandits and Officers held for Ransom.

MATAMORAS, Feb. 2.—Forty bandits captured the town of Abasolo, Puebla, and are now holding the prefect, justice of the peace and the municipal officers for ransom.

CHURCH DEDICATED.

FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

ALBANY, Feb. 2.

The First Presbyterian church of this city was dedicated yesterday, with impressive services. Following is the programme of exercises:

Voluntary, "As pants the Heart," Mrs. J. R. Wyatt, Miss [illegible] Griffin, J. R. Wyatt and W. H. Kinrom, of Portland.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Barry, of Salem.

Reading of scriptures by Rev. [illegible] Lindsley, D. D., of Portland.

Rev. E. R. Geary, of Eugene, then preached from [illegible]

Rev. D. H. Condit then offered prayer, formally dedicating the church to the worship of God. Dr. [illegible] followed with a brief address, as did also [illegible] Irwin, who gave an interesting history of the church from its organization. It is stated the cost of the present structure was [illegible]

The exercises closed with a hymn by the congregation and a benediction by Rev. Mr. Hollenbaugh. [illegible] Wyatt, Miss [illegible] and Messrs. Wyatt and Kinrom were particularly well rendered.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Gen. Lew Wallace, U. S. minister to Turkey and author of "Ben Hur," is said to have written another novel.

The old original residence of the Rothschild family at Frankfort has been sold to the authorities [illegible] and will shortly be demolished.

[illegible] Cockney tells the Dakota [illegible] figures that the territory has 400,000 inhabitants, [illegible] worth of [illegible] property and very little indebtedness.

[illegible] principal rulers in the world: [illegible] William of Germany is the oldest, 86, [illegible] Alfonso of Spain the youngest, 25. The pope is 73, [illegible]

[illegible] in the [illegible] Dispatch [illegible] a Washington special: "Pop, Fizz—Ah! Royalty Entertained at the White House—Seven Kinds of Wine—Thirteen Courses and Perfect Bower [illegible] a Banqueting Hall."

The Indianapolis Journal says: "James Redpath says he would rather kiss the hand of the murderer [illegible] park than touch the hem of the garments of Gladstone or Bright. Redpath and 'Most Wo[illegible]' [illegible] a fine pair to draw to." To what? The gallows?

Anthony Trollope, just before he laid down his pen forever to take it up again, wrote these words, which will appear in his last novel: "Amusement is good, truth is still better, and love best of all. [illegible] itself and is not bought but all true [illegible] esteem."

The English radicals may chuckle with exceeding great joy. The Prince of Wales recently failed to pay sufficient postage on a letter written by him to the Duchess Victoria, and the relentless postmaster stamped the royal envelope with a due mark, even though the initials of the heir to the throne ornamented the left hand corner.

[illegible] Black has given up journalism and is taking his ease; but James Payn, an almost equally [illegible] novelist, still keeps up the old grind. He writes a column letter to an American paper every week, under an assumed name, sends a London letter to the Sheffield Independent, and is moreover the literary adviser of Smith, Elder & Co.

It looks as if all the Indians prohibition and woman suffrage amendments would go to the people, after all. Both parties have held legislative caucuses on the question, the republicans will vote solidly for submission, and probably enough democrats will go with them to make a majority. The democratic brethren had a particularly stormy session, trying to unite about the matter.

Canadian newspapers are having another season of talk about the dominion senate, which is severally referred to as "an old curiosity shop, political morgue, and junk house." There will be an attempt, by and by, to divide the dominion into senatorial districts and transform it into a representative body. Under the British North America act the governor general has the appointing power, and a senator holds office for life unless he becomes "attainted of treason" or goes into bankruptcy.

W. A. Seaver, editor of the "Drawer" in Harper's Magazine and the writer of the "personal notes" in Harper's Weekly and Harper's Bazar, died recently. He was not a college bred man, but had an extensive knowledge of English literature and an extensive literary acquaintance. He was a constant correspondent with Edmund Yates, Wilkie Collins and Charles Reade. He was the owner of a magnificent library at his home in Mount Vernon. Mr. Seaver began his literary life as an editor of the Buffalo Courier. Eighteen or twenty years ago he went to New York and was for a time editor of a church journal, besides writing correspondence for a number of papers.

What Tripe Is.

Burlington Hawkeye.

Occasionally you see a man order tripe at a hotel, but he always looks hard, as though he hated himself and everybody else. He tries to look as though he enjoyed it, but he does not. Tripe is indigestible, and looks like an India-rubber apron for a child to sit on. When it is pickled it looks like dirty clothes put to soak, and when it is cooking it looks as though the cook was boiling a dish-cloth. On the table it looks like glue and tastes like a piece of old silk umbrella cover. A stomach that is not lined with corrugated iron would be turned wrong side out by the sight of tripe. A man eating tripe at a hotel table looks like an Arctic explorer dining off his boots or chewing pieces of frozen dog. You cannot look at a man eating tripe but he will blush and look as though he wanted to apologize and convince you he is taking it to tone up his system. A woman never eats tripe. There is not money enough in the world to hire a woman to take a corner of a sheet of tripe in her teeth and try to pull off a piece. Those who eat tripe are those who have had their stomachs play mean tricks on them and they eat tripe to get even with their stomachs, and then they go and take a Turkish bath to sweat it out of the system. Tripe is a superstition handed down from a former generation of butchers, who sold all the husband kept the tripe for themselves and the dogs; but dogs of the present day will not eat tripe. You throw a piece of tripe down in front of a dog and see if he does not put his tail between his legs and growl and hate you. Tripe may have a value, but it is not as a food. It may be good to fill in a burglar-proof safe, with the cement and chilled steel, or it might answer to use as a breast-plate in the time of war, or it would be good to use for bumpers between cars, or it would make a good face for the weight of a pile driver, but when you come to eating it you make a mistake all you do wrong. Tripe! Ugh! a piece of Turkish towel cooked in axle grease would be pie compared with tripe.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM, Feb. 2.

Gus Morris's naughty revolver yesterday—finger missing.

Work has commenced on the new fence around the capitol building.

The firemen are rejoicing over the arrival of 500 feet of first class hose.

Judge Shaw yesterday tied the nuptial knot between Charles Scoville and Miss Eliza Jones.

The river is again leaving. At last accounts it was 25 feet above low water mark, but again falling.

Mr. A. E. Schwatka, of Yreka, Cal., is in the city visiting his brother, F. G. Schwatka, of this city. They had not met before for twenty years.

Mr. Jos. W. Myers, who some time since sustained a fracture of the leg while snowballing in this city, is again able to appear on the street assisted by his crutches.

We are pleased to learn that P. H. Raymond, Esq., of Albany, contemplates taking up his residence in this city at the expiration of his present term as postmaster in that city.

The common council has so far receded from its order to ring the city fire bell only in case of an alarm, as to grant each company the privilege of giving it nine taps on regular meeting nights.

Capt. Menzies, a well known resident of Sandy, in Multnomah county, was in the city yesterday and rented a house, preparatory to moving his family up here for the purpose of giving his children the advantages of our educational institutions.

John W. Kelly, Esq., of the firm of Kelly & McClane, is in the city completing arrangements for the future publication of their Marion and Polk county directory. Ross the printer is doing the work, and it will probably be ready for delivery in about three weeks.

Some obstruction in the suction at the water company's works creates a partial famine in water in this city. It cannot be remedied until the river falls, and meanwhile the saloons will, no doubt, be better patronized, as even Salemites must have something to drink.

Dr. H. Carpenter, superintendent of the Oregon insane asylum, is in the city. He was summoned by telegraph to consult with Drs. Kinney and Cusick as to the treatment of Father Schwatka's case, which is not progressing as well as anticipated. It is feared further amputation may become necessary, as the severed limb is not doing very well.

The Salem Flouring Mills Company have decided to move what is known as the Grangers' Warehouse from its present location on the bank of the river, below Marion square, to the vacant lot owned by them near the covered bridge. It is an expensive undertaking, costing in the neighborhood of $1600. Deacon Hatch and his old white horse are good for it, however.

The following trade marks have recently been filed in the office of the secretary of state: "The Bon Ton Tailoring Establishment," by Shipper & Rybke, of Portland; "The New York Boot and Shoe House," by Hyman Gallick, of Portland; "The Railroad Stove," by M. Isaacs, of Portland; "The North West News," by Nathan Cole, Jr., of Portland; "The Iron-clad" overall, by White, Goldsmith & Co., of Portland; "The Excelsior Steam Coffee and Spice Mills," by Bernstein & Co., of Portland; "Star Mills Choice Baker's Flour," by Jno. J. Sax, of McMinnville; "Portland Champagne Cider," by Shannon, Bloomer & Son, of East Portland; "German Bakery & Coffee House," by Frances Kance, of Portland; "Mary's Heart Fancy Candy Box," by Bernheim & Altschul, of Portland.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

A revival meeting at Philomath added seventeen to the membership of the U. B. church.

The students of the state agricultural college at Corvallis publish a monthly paper called the Gem.

James Clow, of Forest Grove, died on Monday last, aged 17. He had been a member of the Christian church fifty years.

A petition to secure a license to sell liquors at Jefferson in less quality than a quart was defeated last week by a remonstrance.

Elders Burnett and Edmunds, of Polk county, have been holding a series of meetings in the Baptist church at Forest Grove.

The valuation of property for taxation in Columbia county is $303,450. The gross value is $377,655, from which $263,356 is deducted for indebtedness and $75,809 for exemptions.

The wife of Geo. McBride, of Peoria, Linn county, died on the 22d of January. The husband, though at the time in good health, died three days later. It is supposed from the shock caused by his loss. Seven children are left, the eldest 12 years old.

The Yaquina Post says: The late heavy tides washed out some mammoth bones, among which was the lower jaw, part of the cranium, leg bones and ribs. The jaw measured nearly five inches across and some of the teeth are whoppers. Among the remains are a lot of colored beads and brass buttons, indicating that the old rooster had swallowed a soldier and thus suicided.

Washington Territory.

The track is laid as far as the Puyallup river, upon the Seattle extension of the N. P. railroad. The roadbed is graded for some miles further up the Stuck valley, passing near the Sumner church. There will be four Howe span bridges across the Puyallup, Stuck, White and Black rivers. The bridges across the Puyallup will be 162 feet long, with two Howe spans. The piling for the temporary work has reached the middle of the river. We were informed that the engines will reach the river in a week; then the work will progress faster, and also that 40 white men and 400 Chinamen were at work.

A CITY OF LODGERS.

San Francisco Life in Hotels and Lodgings.

San Francisco Chronicle.

"This is the most cosmopolitan city in the United States by at least 50 per cent.," said the manager of a room-renting agency to a Chronicle reporter yesterday.

"In what particular?" asked the reporter, bending a listening ear to the man of experience.

"I have kept hotels in several eastern cities, and have lived and lodged in other cities, and have conducted the room-renting business in this city more than ten years, and I find that the people of San Francisco are more inclined to 'live out' than to 'keep house,' and that this 'transient' style of living is more prevalent here than in any other city by about 50 per cent."

"Of course there is a cause?" queried the reporter.

"It is the ladies!" replied the gentleman, cynically. "They wish to evade house duties. By living in lodging houses they have no such cares, and can devote their time to pleasure and finding fault with their landladies. And then, again, this independent mode of living is mainly owing to the way the people of this city were brought up. Many came here as transients and put up at hotels and lodging houses, expecting to return east as soon as they made their fortunes. They still live in that style, though they have merged themselves into permanent residents. And this is how the spirit of restlessness was implanted and has grown into a habit."

"About what per cent. of our population live in that indolent way?"

"We can best get at that by figures," said the practical gentleman. "There are about 1100 lodging houses in the city—that is houses kept by women, who make it their regular business and—"

"Are they all kept by women?" interrupted the reporter.

"Of the 1100 I do not believe twenty of them are kept by men, and nearly every one of these women are widows, or living single," explained the gentleman, anticipating the reporter's next question.

CALCULATING THE NUMBER.

"Well," continued the man of experience, "these 1100 houses will hold from 12 to 20 people, or an average of 16. This will give 17,600 people. Then there are about 3000 private boarding and lodging houses, holding from two to six, with an average of three to each. This would give 9000."

"Are they kept by ladies?" eagerly asked the reporter.

"Oh, yes; all of the leases are made out in their names, and so far as our business is concerned, they appear to be the 'men of the house.' There is not one instance in fifty where we deal with a man in lodging or boarding-house matters. Of course a great many of the women are married, but their husbands cut no figure in business relations with us. Then there are four hundred hotels, with, we will say, an average capacity of fifty each and in this is included the largest and smallest. Many of them are merely large-sized lodging houses. They take out a hotel license in order to have a legal lien on the lodger's baggage. This would show a transient list of 20,000; the 1100 lodging houses show 17,600, and the 3000 private houses show 9000; so we have a total of about 46,600 in a white population of 220,000. We will take off half of the hotel capacity for transient visitors to the city, and that would leave over 36,000, so about one in six and a half people of this city live out," concluded the mathematical speaker, as he arose to receive a stylish dressed lady who wore an elegant sealskin sacque and a lodging-house look.

HOTEL HABITUES.

The reporter visited several of the leading hotels and found that about 40 or 50 per cent. of their guests were citizens of the city. "You see," said the clerk of many years' experience, "within the past few years hotel accommodations have increased to such an extent that families can get the comforts of a home in a hotel at much cheaper rates than by housekeeping. Here they have servants to wait upon them, and they escape the troubles of housekeeping, and that is a great item with the ladies," said the gentleman, with a smile, as if he knew how it was. "Yet a great many of our customers are irregular. That seems to be a contradiction, but it is a fact. They will get tired and try housekeeping for a while; but after a time they come back. We always count upon their returning. It is this class of changeable minds, irregular habits and restless dispositions that are our best customers and constitute what is called hotel habitues. They try lodging houses, and eat at restaurants; then they go to boarding houses, and next to private houses, then housekeeping, but they return at last. A great many return after each experiment, remain a while, try another experiment, only to return again," concluded the clerk, with a satisfactory air that, judging from the stories he had heard of the returning prodigals, hotel life was the best after all.

THE EAST SIDE.

PARLOR ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment under the auspices and management of St. David's Episcopal church, referred to at Neppach's hall, as announced, Thursday evening. It was one varied in the component parts and appeared to arouse an interest the audience [illegible] with their respective ages, conditions and tastes. The performers were evidently selected for their several adaptability to the respective parts assigned them, though it must be confessed the standard of artistic merit and excellence did not on the whole equal that of [illegible] given under the patronage of this organization. The programme executed was as follows:

PART I.

1. Flute duet, Rev. John W. Sellwood and Master John J. Sellwood.
2. Selected chorus, "I am Watching," Miss Jessie Washburn, soloist, Miss Lizzie Sprague, Messrs. Jas. R. N. Sellwood and P. E. Hatch.
3. Duet, "Larboard Watch," Mr. A. O. Yates and Master John J. Sellwood.
4. Charade, "The Tram to Mauro," Miss E. P. Davison, Mr. A. O. Yates and Master John Gill.
5. Solo, in character, "The White Cow's [illegible]," Mr. P. E. Hatch, with invisible chorus.
6. Solo, "There's a Letter in the Candle," Master John J. Sellwood.
7. Solo, "Stay not long Away," Miss Maggie Nicholson.
8. Solo, "Nancy Lee," Mr. A. O. Yates.
9. Charade, "Windfall," Messrs. W. H. Kerns, R. L. Gillespie, — Thompson, P. E. Hatch, John J. Sellwood, Misses Lizzie Sprague and Jessie Washburne.

PART II.

1. Male quartette, "Speed Away," Messrs. A. O. Yates, Jas. R. N. Sellwood, John J. Sellwood and Dr. S. E. Josephi.
2. Solo, "Trundle Bed," Miss Delia Powel.
3. Solo, "No, sir!" Mrs. John W. Sellwood.
4. Duet (in character), "Gipsy Countess," Mr. A. O. Yates and Miss Maggie Nicholson.
5. Solo, "The Voice of the Waves," Prof. S. Bullock.
6. Charade, "The Mysterious G. G. J.," Dr. J. W. Hill, Mrs. Dr. Charlton and Mrs. John W. Sellwood.
7. Male Quartette, "Come where My Love Lies Dreaming," Messrs. A. O. Yates, Jas. R. N. Sellwood, John J., and John W. Sellwood.

Miss Carrie Dalton presided ably at the piano as accompanist.

Mr. A. O. Yates, who made his first appearance on this occasion before an East Portland audience, made a very favorable impression by his sweet and clear tenor. For his excellent rendering of "Nancy Lee" he received a hearty encore, and gave "Mary of Argyle" with much expression and good effect. His voice also appeared to good advantage in "Come where My Love Lies Dreaming," which, as a finale, served to mollify the audience for any impatience they may have experienced during the evening and sent them away evidently satisfied with the result. With careful training Mr. Yates, as a tenor, would doubtless rank second to none in Portland.

Mrs. J. W. Sellwood also appeared for the first time as a vocalist in this city and was received with much favor. Her powerful and well-modulated soprano enabled her to render with pleasing effect the ballad, "No, Sir," and being encored gave "Maggie's Secret" very expressively, but it was apparently of too wide a range for her voice.

"The Voice of the Waves," sung by Prof. S. Bullock, is a beautiful piece and was rendered with much taste and musical accuracy. The professor has a clear, rich voice and knows how to use it to the best advantage.

The charades, on the whole, were very creditably enacted, Mrs. John W. Sellwood, Master Charlton, Miss Davison and Miss Jessie Washburn deserving especial mention. R. L. Gillespie appeared in the role of a darky servant, with his usual ability, causing much merriment. The performance, as a whole, was both interesting and enjoyable, no hitch occuring from first to last, and the success attained is due principally to the efforts of Rev. Jno. W. Sellwood, who is to be congratulated on the result. And intelligent and appreciative audience was present, but the bitterness of the weather had a marked effect upon its dimensions. The receipts, however, will be larger than indicated by the audience, as a number of tickets were sold that were not represented at the entertainment.

DISGUSTING AND DISGRACEFUL.

The sorrowful calm that usually pervades a house of mourning, was painfully and outrageously disturbed recently in this city. To a mind of ordinary sensibility, it would appear incredible that a drunken brawl, terminating in a savage and brutal affray was possible, while yet the remains of a near and dear relative of one of the combatants, and it is said the offending party, lay in the embrace of death in an adjoining room to that in which the fracas occurred, and also while his wife and children were present in the house. But such is the disgraceful fact. A trivial dispute, leading to offensive and insulting language, resulted in blows in which several articles of furniture took a prominent part. The fight did not terminate till a man employed near by, whose attention was attracted by the noise, succeeded in separating the belligerents, and dragging them, streaming with blood from the house.

ASTORIA ITEMS.

From the Astorian, Feb. 2.

The schooner Alpha left for Yaquina at 1 yesterday afternoon.

Work on the gas works is going on. A force of men is employed excavating and grading for the company's building, and by April 1st Astoria will have gaslight.

Ross Brothers will call their new building Occidental Hall, a very appropriate name. We believe it is the farthest west of any institution of the kind in the United States.

The General Miles arrived in from Shoalwater bay yesterday afternoon with 667 sacks of oysters. The demand for these oysters is on the increase. The cargo in question goes to San Francisco tomorrow.

Uniontown, as the new western extension of Astoria is called, presents a brilliant appearance when lit up, the houses rising in tiers on the river bank. The roadway lately built, at an expense of nearly $2000, is a great convenience, and when the busy season begins, that part of the city will be as full of life as any other outlying section.

There be lunar rainbows and solar rainbows. Yesterday, to Astorians who had time to stop and see it, was visible a snowbow, a flurry of frozen mist slanting across the Columbia, and casting all manner of prismatic reflections towards Tongue Point. "Twas like the borealis race that flits ere you can point its place, or like the rainbow's lovely form, vanishing amid the storm, etc.

London Grain Review.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A leading weekly grain circular says: The wheat trade is in sympathy with American exhibits, with increased firmness. Cargoes in all positions are in good request at about 6d advance. Spot markets, however, are slow to respond, and any improvement was with difficulty obtained. In today's market there was an average attendance in wheat, and a fair business was done at a general advance of 1d. In flour there is more doing and full prices are asked. In corn there was a steady trade, with the price 3d higher.

That Settles It.

Brought into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Exhibition of 1876, the products of all the branches of the World's industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of extraordinary difficulty. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age and it may be of vital importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only medal given to rubber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, by the following jury:

DR. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prussian Army.

J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans.

ERNEST FLEISCH, M. D., Austria.

The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and in Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow-acting plasters they had been using, and adopted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broadest reputations did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit of the article.

It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and medical of the successors of his predecessors of not more than twenty five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and enlists as aids all demonstrated healing agents wherever he finds them.

The right of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned.

Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPCINE cut in the middle.

Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

THE

Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their conditions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Disease, Skin Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bowels, in each case without fail.
